

VIRTUES OF THE CENTURION OFFICER™

ATTENTIVENESS

Demonstrating value by giving undivided concentration to the person or task at hand

COMPASSION

Actions motivated by a genuine concern for the well-being of others without thought of personal reward

CONTENTMENT

Satisfaction with your current pay and status, without grumbling or fault-finding, nor losing zeal to achieve ever higher standards of excellence

DEPENDABILITY

Meeting your commitments even when it requires extra sacrifice

FAITHFULNESS

Accurately representing and acting in harmony with the principles of your authorities

FORGIVENESS

Freedom from bitterness and resentment by expunging the record of wrongs and refusing to hold a grudge

GRATITUDE

Expressing appreciation for the character, acts, and attitudes of others that have benefited you or the team

HELPFULNESS

Temporarily setting aside your own priorities to assist others in accomplishing their goals

HONOR

Respecting the authorities you represent and balancing the authority that has been entrusted to you with a spirit of humility

HUMILITY

Refusing to think more highly of yourself than you ought, putting the desires of others ahead of your own, and recognizing the debt owed to others for your success

INITIATIVE

Fulfilling an essential need or task without having to be told, even if it is not within your area of responsibility

INTEGRITY

Moral excellence and mastery of essential competencies necessary for building trust and achieving success

JUSTICE

Conducting your own affairs and exercising your discretion in accordance with unchanging standards of rightness

LOYALTY

Unwavering devotion to a person, agency, or cause without compromising your moral integrity, especially in the midst of crisis

MORAL COURAGE

Boldly standing for what is true, right, and just regardless of the circumstances and regardless of the cost

NOBILITY

Recognizing the higher calling of the law enforcement profession and honoring the trust placed in you by the public

PATIENCE

Longsuffering in challenging times and maintaining your composure when others are losing theirs

PERSEVERANCE

Expending the time and effort needed to complete assignments even when facing unexpected obstacles or resistance

POSITIVE ATTITUDE

Encouraging and providing energy to those around you with optimism and a pleasant countenance

PRUDENCE

Acting cautiously and wisely in administering the authority of your office while making morally correct decisions, even under pressure

RESILIENCY

Internal fortitude to withstand stress, exercise flexibility in the face of change, and inspire others in the midst of crisis

RESPECT

Unbiased treatment of others according to the inherent value of all human beings, even in the face of disrespect

RESPONSIBILITY

Quickly and respectfully fulfilling the expectations of your authorities

SELF-AWARENESS

Emotional Intelligence and objective insight into your own strengths, weaknesses, implicit biases, personality traits, and leadership style

SELF-CONTROL

Yielding personal rights to express your own feelings or have your own way in order to accomplish a higher objective; and exercising restraint when confronted with resistance or challenge

SITUATIONAL AWARENESS

Alertness to your surroundings and sensitivity to the attitudes and intentions of others so that you can respond correctly and safely

THOROUGHNESS

Completing assignments and responsibilities in a timely fashion with a commitment to detail and excellence

THOUGHTFULNESS

Expressing genuine concern for others through acts of kindness, generosity, or hospitality

TRUTHFULNESS

Earning future trust through the accurate and complete reporting of past events

WELLNESS

Practicing daily disciplines to ensure your readiness for duty in mind, body, and spirit